NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Spring fashions present a bewildering assortment of round waists.

An exquisite Easter hat is of white Italian Lagoon, trimmed with pink roses and white tulle.

The evening gown of white organdie is made with the gored width of the skirt joined prior to the tucking crosswise, which is so popular.

Slender ladies affect soft girdles of velvet, ribbons, satin or tulle. They are not appropriate for women with full proportions.

A very fetching hat is of angled chiffon mounted on gilt. It is about five inches long.

A dainty frock shown by Best & Co. for a maiden of ten years has coral skirt three yards wide filled at the center-back, and biased with a three-inch hem. The open-front waist reveals a blouse of white China silk.

The dress is of finest cashmere.

Two shades of the same material appear in many Spring suits. The materials which combine most artistically are silk and cashmere.

The shirt waist will, it appears, never die! It comes to us again this season, in slightly altered shapes, some of which are positively dainty. It needs to strike a happy compromise between the primitive garment in its generally unbecoming severity and the dressier waist of silk, organdie or other fluttering stuff.

There is a larger showing than ever of belts, and no end of appliances to straighten from them. Among the latter a practical inclusion is always a silver or other fanciful bangles, which should contain a few Charcoal Tablets.

Mr. Dittman, of 2 Barclay street, can tell my readers about them.

Removable stock collars are quite the vogue. They are plain, plaid and striped, ring-strapped and speckled up to the top notch of fashionable array, and as plain or as fanciful as anyone could wish.
There are sorts to suit all tastes and all pocket-books.

Some very masculine-looking vests of plaid or corded silk, Madras, pique or cotton veining, etc., are seen.

One of the most important bits of trimming is the silk or velvet bow-knot. It is put flatly upon sleeves at the top, yokes, vests, skirt fronts and waists. EVELYN CABLE.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Marshall, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death.

In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief.
I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble.

Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Perry & Thomas' Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

A Madison wife returning home recently, who had been off on a visit, found all of her dresses she had left in the wardrobe missing, and thinking that her husband had perhaps been making love to some other lady during her absence, she demanded very abruptly that he should give an account of her missing garments. "Well," said the innocent and candid man, pointing to a big burned spot on the back of one of her dresses, "if I wanted the key to the smoke house I would find it in the dress pocket of your polonaise in the wardrobe. I didn't know a polonaise from a tennis racket, and couldn't have found the pocket if I had searched for a week.

I took all your dresses out in the back yard, set Perry & Thomas' and fished the key out of the ash-tray."

The whistle of a locomotive can be heard 3,000 yards, the noise of a musket and the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, the cry of a ship 1,000 yards, the cry of a frog 300 yards, a cricket chirp 800 yards, a flamer bell 2 miles and a call for a newly married couple to get up in the morning 3 feet 7 inches.

Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you as long as you use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It does not come that way.
First, you think you have a little cold; nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little less in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats.

The suddenness comes when you have a hemorrhage.

Better stop the disease while it is yet creeping.

You can do it with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

You first notice that you cough less. The pressure on the chest is lifted. That feeling of suffocation is removed. A cure is hastened by placing one of

Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral over the Chest.

A Book Free.
It is on the Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

LINES ON THE DEATH OF A PET FLOWER.

It was a lily—a Chinese lily of the water class, That grew on its bed of rocks, in a bowl of glass, Beautifully.

An old man tended it and cherished it with gentle care—This waterily with a promised bloom so fair—Daintily.

The frosty nights chilled it, but it clung to life heroically, And the emerald kept up the strife zealously.

Bravely it poised its tender form, its rocky bed flamed with ice, And it bided and looked "awfully" green and "nice,"
And "twas child.

Each morning from golden cup, it drank its tiny draught of sunshine That seemed to warm it and rouse it up from its rocky bed With icy time.

Its slender leaves and tender buds grew and unfolded apace, While the old man nursed it and put it in the warmest and sunniest place.

For he knew that under all this promise of fragrant flower Lurked the germ of death—'twould unfold its bloom and live but one brief hour—

Thro' the night?

Do the changing forms in his grate turn back the tide of years To a time when he watched some beloved—late and alone—wrenched by conflicting hopes and fears—

Without success?

Has time turned backward in its flight to some solemn night, When a soul, as the lily, beautiful and white,
Had sought release

From a form, as the lily, frail and fair? Does the old man see, In coils that turn to ashes at his feet, hopes that evermore must be Under the soil?—?

Tread lightly on sacred ground—"tis grief no man may share, He asks no sympathy, but meekly endures, and does not dare Question his God.

THE SILVER DOLLAR AND THE GOLD COIN.

A HARD CASH STORY, BY CHAS. M'GILL.

A Silver Dollar dropped into a cash drawer where there was a Gold Coin.
When his eyes became accustomed to the darkness, he discovered his companion, and cried out merrily:

"Hello, Mr. Gold Coin, you look bright and new."

"And why shouldn't I look bright and new?" replied the Gold Coin. "I have nothing to do."

"Well, now, that sounds strange," mused the Silver Dollar. "I have more than I can do, Mr. Gold Coin."

The Gold Coin languidly sniffed his aristocratic nose and remarked:

"That is nothing to me. I do not have to go out among the common people and work like you do. I have advantages to do my work, and you, Mr.
Silver Dollar, are one of them."

"Then," said the Silver Dollar, with a merry twinkle in his bright eye, "you are not money—your merely represent money, which I am the real thing."

"Triumph!" muttered the Gold Coin.
"I should like to know how you came to be money—a common fellow like you."

The Silver Dollar was too good natured to get angry at the surly reply of his companion, but smiled pleasantly and said:

"Well, Mr. Gold Coin, that is easy for me to do. While you lie here in the drawer and represent money, as you say, I am the real stuff. I don't represent anybody or anything. I am no man's slave. I am free, and I go out and circulate among the people and make them all happy and prosperous, while you lie here in the dark and do nothing. You might as well not be in existence, for your substitutes, as you call them, could do your work without you as well as with you."

"You are a worthless fellow," said the Gold Coin with a snort of displeasure. "If I were not for you, you wouldn't be worth half your weight, and you wouldn't dare to show your face in public."

The Silver Dollar merrily laughed at this unkind fling, and replied good-humoredly:

would be just twice as great in volume as we are now, and in that case would do twice as much work and accomplish twice as much good."

"That can never be," replied the Gold Coin. "I'll tell you why. I am sent for me to circulate among common people on an equality with you. He thinks too much of me for that. You are a poor man's money, and I am a rich man's money; and my owner will see to it that I associate only with the rich. And he will keep me so exclusive and valuable as possible, because that increases his wealth and his power."

As the Gold Coin ceased speaking, a hand was inserted in the cash drawer, and the Silver Dollar was fished out and sent on his way to circulate among the poor, many of whom have never seen the Gold Coin or any of his family in all their lives. But they are well acquainted with the Silver Dollar and his family, and they dearly love his bright face and jolly ways.

Horrible agony is caused by Piles, Burns and Skin Diseases. These are immediately relieved and quickly cured by De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of worthless imitations. Doug-

OBeyed ORDERS.

"Hang it, boy!" exclaimed the tenderfoot from the east as the belloby of a Texas hotel came bounding in on him without knocking. "Haven't you got any manners about you?"

"Did you ring?" asked the boy.

"Of course I rang."

"Didn't you ring three times?"

"It may have been three, as I was in a hurry for ice water, but that doesn't excuse you for bursting in the door."

"Beg pardon," replied the boy as he backed out, "but you ought to read the bell-boy's card. It says 'Ring for the porter, two for the bell-boy and three for a gun and when a guest rings for a gun in this hotel the orders are to get it to him before the other fellow can beg his pardon.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Coughing injuries and influenza cure lungs. One Minute Cough Cure loosens the cold, always coughing and heals quickly. The best cure for croup. Douglas & Wells.

"As soon as a woman gets fat," say the Savage Bachelor, "her next move is to get a photograph taken that looks like the front of a butcher shop."

Mr. S. A. Fackler, Editor of the Minneapolis (Fla.) Herald, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them.
It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe, and its exhausting after effects.
Douglas & Wells.

Pupil—"What, in your opinion, professor, is the most difficult mathematical problem?"

Poor Professor (grimly)—"Trying to make both ends meet, my dear sir."

No Right to Unpleasant.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her temper will be out of control. If she has a cold, she will be nervous and sickly. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Perry & Thomas' Drug Store.

SENSITIVE ON THAT HEAD.

The illustrious senator, who still lacked a dozen or more votes of re-election, was in the barber's chair.

"The razorist artist ran his fingers through his customer's hair."

"Seems rather dry and dead," he said, in a deferential and suggestive manner.

"Scarcely!" exclaimed the illustrious statesman, fiercely. "Can't I go anywhere without having my deadlocks thrown up to me?"—Chicago Tribune.

"No, she wept because he didn't get

INCURABLE DISEASES

Many diseases considered incurable or catarrh under other names.
Simple catarrh in the head is called incurable. Catarrh of the lungs, and its victim is doubt, past help in the more advanced stages;
but great relief is afforded by the use of the great prescription, attacks catarrhal diseases scientifically and cures them.

Dr. Hartman explains it fully in his book which will cost you nothing and which will save you from the trouble of a doctor. Here is a letter from Mrs. Harman, Maro Manie, Wis., who is one of many cured of consumption by Peruna.

There are 174,055 Negro voters in America. It can be safely estimated that 2,000,000 of these will vote the Republican ticket in 1940.—Glasgow Times.

Several requests have been received at this office for lists of names of from two hundred to five hundred Democrats. If the readers will give their true reasons for wishing to go to the polls, we will be glad to furnish them. Otherwise, otherwise.

One of the curses of war is the dishonest army contractor and the dishonest officials who permit him to bleed the government. It has been found that some of the shoes manufactured for volunteers were made of paper and scraps of leather pressed together when they got wet fell to pieces. Some of the uniforms were of the shoddiest of the shoddy.

The Williamson Times says that it is prominent Republicans have been subpoenaed in that county by John D. White to prove that they were not in the county when the shoes were made.

All the Republican members and ex-members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation have decided to endorse the Hon. Brutus J. Clay for the Paris commission.

This State Democratic Convention, over which Louisville and Lexington made such a warm contest, will be held in Louisville on Wednesday, June 15, 1939, at 10 o'clock a. m. The place and time have been settled Wednesday by the State Executive Committee, which will also advise in the local papers the date for the county conventions to be held at the county seat on June 17, 1939.

In the course of an article dedicated to an admiring friend to the Richmond Climax, the advertiser advises the paper to "behold over to strangers' performance." Sure, the clever CLIMAX people will never do anything of the kind to a friend or neighbor, we are certain.—Lexington Falcon.

"Nepotism" and "nepotism" here, the Falcon is slightly off. But our minor, "Gone" only Brown, will please remember only United States laws.

This allegation is false and the allegation is a cruel and malicious lie. From C. W. Jones, a friend in Davenport, Iowa, to the editor of this paper: "I read recently that during the late war, one of the inhabitants of Richmond, Ky., placed a light lamp under a pan of alcohol and kept it burning, and the machine which rolled on the bottom of the pan dropped upon the lamp chimney and broke." The story originated from the fact that on one of the coldest days of the war, one of the inhabitants of Richmond, Ky., placed a light lamp under a pan of alcohol and kept it burning, and the machine which rolled on the bottom of the pan dropped upon the lamp chimney and broke.

The Republicans, especially the Republican newspapermen, are for joy when a certain big iron and steel manufacturing company raised the wages of their employees five or ten per cent. Now the same company has combined with several others to raise the price of manufactured steel and iron products from twenty to thirty per cent. higher than the war. Who pays for this high price increase? The consumer. The consumer who thought his employer was a philanthropist because he raised his salary a few cents a day. The American farmer and laborer must be the most easily gulled people in the world.—Nicholasville Democrat.

CONGRESSMAN DE. ARNOLD during the last session arranged for the Republican party a fair trial and what was most conspicuous was the fact of his allegations.

It is extraneous, its tariff robbery, its paupering of the treasury and its grabbing of the violations of platform promises, the contempt of the Constitution, its unjust and unscrupulous scheme of tariff taxation, its piling up war expenses many of them representing not

Evil Dispositions

Are Early Shown.

Just so evil in the blood comes out in shape of scrofula, pimples, etc., in children and young people. Taken in time it can be eradicated by using Hood's Sarsaparilla.

In older people, the aftermath of irregular living shows itself in bilious conditions, a heavy head, a foul mouth, a general bad feeling.

It is the blood, the impure blood, friends, which is the real cause. Purify that with Hood's Sarsaparilla and happiness will reign in your family.

Blood Poison—"I lived in a bed of fire for years owing to blood poisoning that followed small pox. It broke out all over my body, itching intensely. Tried doctors and hospitals in vain. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla. It helped. I kept at it and was entirely cured. I kept on the Sarsaparilla and about a month later I was well." Mrs. J. J. Williams, Carbonate, Pa.

Scrofula Sores—"My baby at two months had scrofula sores on neck and arm. Local applications and physicians' medicine did little or nothing. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him permanently. He is now four, with smooth fair skin." Mrs. S. S. Warren, Farmington, Del.

Bicycle Riders, Attention.

The annual state meeting of the Ky. L. A. V. will be held in Richmond, sometime in June. It will bring 300 riders here, who will spend two days in conference. It is hoped that the widespread reputation of our city for its hospitality and progressiveness, all citizens should take interest in the affair, especially those who are bicycle riders. Mr. H. J. Strong is President of the local club and also State representative, and he states that already there are 21 members of the Richmond Club, which meets every Friday night in his home.

Bates, the Giant, Still Lives.

We had supposed for years that "Bates," the Kentucky Giant was dead, but we see by the Livingston Courier that Bates, last week, was still alive and well.

We met Bates and his wife in Louisville twenty years ago. They came to see the fair, and he was then a giant, but now he is a normal man, and he is well.

Things Well to Remember.

Postmaster Willis requests us to say to the reading public that ignorance of postal regulations is a cause of loss and waste of time, money and merchandise. Bear in mind that all written correspondence should be properly addressed, and that all letters should be properly sealed.
